We pre-fry our potato products in vegetable oil, which is currently still palm oil for most of our products. This is a subject for discussion both within and outside our organisation. In some cases, tropical rainforests are cleared to build new palm oil plantations, resulting in orang-utans being in danger of extinction. We do not want to purchase palm oil without a guarantee that it originates from Round Table of Sustainable Palm Oil (RSPO) certified sustainable palm oil plantations. Our palm oil suppliers have been members of RSPO for years. However, this still did not guarantee that our palm oil originated from certified palm oil plantations.

Since 2011 Lamb Weston / Meijer is a direct member of RSPO, as a first active step towards promoting the growth and use of certified sustainable palm oil. Next we defined our procurement policy, choosing the 'Book & Claim' system. In 2011 we purchased our first Green Palm certificates. As of 2012, more than a third of our annual demand for palm oil is met with RSPO certified sustainable palm oil (RSPO CSPO). As a food manufacturer using palm oil, we are the most important part of the chain having a positive influence on this process. We want to make a difference, and no longer wait for others to act. Therefore, as of 2013, we will purchase 100 percent of our palm oil need as RSPO certified sustainable palm oil.
