Challenges

1 What significant economic, social or environmental obstacles have you encountered in the production, procurement, use and/or promotion of CSPO and what efforts did you make to mitigate or resolve them?

Low demand from customers remains the principle challenge in increasing our use of CSPO. Insufficient remuneration for the application of on-farm sustainability methodologies and the lack of methods to value ecosystem services are challenges across many commodity value chains, including palm. In certain markets Bunge markets products as containing RSPO certified oil and collaborates with customers on similar products. We are also working on industry transformation efforts (see below).

2 How has your organization supported the vision of RSPO to transform markets? (e.g. Funding; Engagement with key stakeholders; Business to business education/outreach)

Bunge's global palm oil sourcing policy commits the company to develop a traceable supply chain that protects HCS and HCV areas and peat regardless of depth, and promotes FPIC and other human rights provisions. In addition to engaging with suppliers to fulfill the obligations of our policy, Bunge also supports industry transformation efforts. We have worked in collaboration with TFT to increase traceability in India and have supported spatial mapping projects in Indonesia. Bunge participates in industry meetings and advocates for zero deforestation more broadly. We report publicly on our policy implementation and maintain a public grievance mechanism.
