Please provide links for reports that may be relevant to Sustainable Palm Oil.

We are the end user of crude palm oil , our policy is to acquire crude palm oil from the source that comply with RSPO regulation as much as we can find locally. Since RSPO is fairly a new practice for all of the palm related producers and users in Thailand, therefore to enforce the use of policy might take more time for everyone involved to understand and follow to regulation strictly.

Time-bound plan

Time-bound plan - Year expected to achieve 100% supply chain certification

2014

What are your interim milestones towards achieving this CSPO Commitment (year and progressive CSPO%) - please state annual targets/strategies

We are committed to achieve the chain certification as soon as we can , bu the problem is that we are the end user of crude palm oil. As a result, to work with companies who are supplying crude palm oil to my company take a lot of time to do so because in Thailand majority of the oil plam growers are smallholders and getting these smallholders to understand about RSPO will take much longer time as we are the end user trying to work with them for almost 1 year and yet the progress still very slow. The action is out of our reach because I do not have any control over the supply of FFB with should be certified by the crushing mill.

Time-bound plan - Year expected to supply 100% certified sustainable palm oil

2014-2015

What are your interim milestones towards achieving this CSPO Commitment (year and progressive CSPO%) - please state annual targets/strategies

We are 100% committed to achieving the CSPO, but we do not have total control over the source of raw material of which will be used to produce CPO. Anyway, the strategy is to work closely with one of the pilot plant (Crushing mill) who is trying to certified with RSPO and push the company to work with smallholders much closer and faster so that the whole chain can be certify by 2014.
