We have already acquired RSPO supply chain ourselves few years ago, the process that we are very much get involve with the palm oil processor was to the ourselves started in full loop. Which mean we are seeking for RSPO certify product from many local crushing mills who have already certifies themselves in order to get our process running on the balance sheet. We are still working on the process because the palm oil with RSPO certify in my local area is very minimal.

Challenges

1 What significant economic, social or environmental obstacles have you encountered in the production, procurement, use and/or promotion of CSPO and what efforts did you make to mitigate or resolve them?

We do not encounter any issue with production, but what has been an issue for us is procurement of CSPO material to supply in our production line. For us to locate our on this province (Suratthani), majority of the oil palm grower are smallholders. These smallholders, do not seem to understand about what is really important especially to get to know what RSPO really mean. For other province , like Chumporn or Krabi there are many companies that own lots of oil palm plantation. So, the challenge for me now is to give out information anout RSPO , especially to smallholders and middle man who purchase FFB direct from farmer and deliver to crushing mill. Now farmer in most area in my province, get to know very little about RSPO. For us, we already inform to most of crushing mills in this area to start their process with RSPO either supply chain or fully certify on their plant. As end user of plam oil in this loop, we have already notify most crushing mill in this area that, we have already certify ourselve on supply chain. SO they can begin their process on certify themselve into supply chain and can begin to do the balance figure in the future.

2 How has your organization supported the vision of RSPO to transform markets? (e.g. Funding; Engagement with key stakeholders; Business to business education/outreach) we are in the process of working with other firms who have already acquired their full certificate of rspo (refiner), by working with them we are trying to reach out to the smallholders by providing some fund to them to get themselve started on the whole process of certifying themselve. Anyway , we still working on thie issue.
