Challenges

1 What significant economic, social or environmental obstacles have you encountered in the production, procurement, use and/or promotion of CSPO and what efforts did you make to mitigate or resolve them?

Currently, not all palm oil based derivatives, which we are using, have a sustainable option on the market; therefore we will have to cover them with RSPO credits. In addition, the sustainable consumer products have an extra cost that not all customers, or final consumers, are willing to afford it.

2 In addition to the actions already reported in this ACOP how has your organization supported the vision of RSPO to transform markets in other ways? (e.g. Funding; Engagement with key stakeholders; Business to business education/outreach)

On one hand, we are establishing commercial relationships and agreements with our main raw material suppliers with the aim of having RSPO certified alternatives. On the other hand, we will offer to our customer the possibility of manufacturing RSPO final products.
