Challenges

1 What significant economic, social or environmental obstacles have you encountered in the production, procurement, use and/or promotion of CSPO and what efforts did you make to mitigate or resolve them?

In 2016 We have suffered in Italy a major shift from palm oil to other vegetable oils due to a bad image campaign reported by media either traditional or social. The reaction to that by multiple stakeholders such as Industry, Retailers and Political parties created the environment for a massive change, starting to abandon palm oil. The attack was against palm oil in general with no particular distinction between standard and Sustainable palmoil. The major historical users of Sustainable Palmoil (except Ferrero) have cut palm oil from receipes, therefore the usage of palm oil and particularly sustainable has decreased. As members of both EPOA and Unione Olio di Palma Sostenibile through those entities we have organized several events to re-balance the public opinion. Action is still in place. You can check activities on both websites. <http://www.palmoilandfood.eu/it>

2 How has your organization supported the vision of RSPO to transform markets? (e.g. Funding; Engagement with key stakeholders; Business to business education/outreach)
